

Aldine ISD

Aldine ISD is located approximately 15 miles north of downtown Houston, the Aldine Independent School District covers 111 square miles in North Harris County, with approximately 9,500 employees (4,400 of whom are teachers) who serve more than 70,000 students.

One of the 10th largest school districts in Texas, Aldine ISD is a multi-ethnic district that reflects the diversity of the Houston area. The district includes a variety of communities, from rural, to suburban, to commercial and industrial. Aldine ISD is home to 77 campuses: one Even Start center, eight Early Childhood/PreKindergarten Centers, 34 elementary schools (grades K-4), 11 intermediate schools (grades 5-6), 10 middle schools (grades 7-8), five Ninth Grade Schools, five traditional high schools (grades 10-12), one Magnet high school, one night high school, one early college high school, one alternative education center and one dropout prevention center.

Aldine ISD's Board of Trustees was named the Region 4 Honor Board in the summer of 2013 and in September of 2013 the Board was named one of five Honor Boards in the State of Texas. In 2009, Aldine ISD was named the winner of the Broad Prize for Urban Education. In May of 2015, Aldine ISD's EC/Pre-K Centers were named winners of H-E-B's Excellence in Education Early Childhood Award.

Dr. LaTonya Goffney was selected by the Aldine ISD Board of Trustees to succeed Dr. Wanda Bamberg as Superintendent of Schools in April of 2018. Prior to joining Aldine ISD, Dr. Goffney served as Superintendent of Schools of Lufkin ISD from 2008-2013. She has 19 years of experience in the field of education.

Dr. Goffney is the first African-American to serve as Superintendent of Schools in Aldine ISD.

Dr. Goffney is a native of Coldspring, TX and began her career as a language arts teacher in Coldspring-Oakhurst CISD. She served as an assistant principal and principal in Coldspring-Oakhurst before serving as that district's superintendent for five years. Dr. Goffney earned her bachelor's degree in history and English, a Master of Education degree in administration and a Doctorate of Education degree in Educational Leadership all from Sam Houston State University.

In 2013, she was the recipient of the Distinguished Administrator of the Year Award by the faculty of Sam Houston State University's College of Education. Dr. Goffney was named one of only 22 members of the 2012-13 Class of Phi Delta Kappa (PDK) International Emerging Leaders. The PDK Emerging Leaders program recognizes top educators from across the world. In 2017, Dr. Goffney was named the Texas Association of School Board's (TASB) Superintendent of the Year for the state of Texas and the Region VII Superintendent of the Year.
